

Broadway is often considered the pinnacle of American theater, and Broadway shows are a quintessential part of New York City's cultural landscape. These theatrical productions are known for their grandeur, world-class performances, and captivating storytelling. Broadway shows are not only a source of entertainment but also a significant economic driver for New York City. They attract tourists from around the world, contribute to the local economy, and provide employment opportunities for many people.

Broadway Shows

Title	Genre	Opening Date	Box Office Revenue	Still Running
The Phantom of the Opera	Musical	1986-01-26	$680,000,000.00	No
Chicago	Musical	1996-11-14	$610,000,000.00	Yes
Rent	Musical	1996-04-29	$290,000,000.00	No
Les Misérables	Musical	1987-03-12	$602,000,000.00	No
Wicked	Musical	2003-10-30	$1,115,000,000.00	Yes
The Lion King	Musical	1997-11-13	$1,277,000,000.00	No
To Kill a Mockingbird	Drama	2018-12-13	$180,000,000.00	Yes
The Glass Menagerie	Drama	1944-03-31	$4,500,000.00	No
Death of a Salesman	Drama	1949-02-10	$9,000,000.00	No

Avenue Q	Musical Comedy	2003-07-31	$150,000,000.00	No
The Book of Mormon	Musical Comedy	2011-03-24	$650,000,000.00	Yes
Cats	Musical Fantasy	1982-10-07	$680,000,000.00	No
The Crucible	Drama	1953-01-22	$6,600,000.00	No
The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time	Mystery/Thriller	2014-10-05	$230,000,000.00	No
Hamilton	Historical Musical	2015-08-06	$880,000,000.00	Yes
The Importance of Being Earnest	Comedy	1895-02-14	$3,500,000.00	No
Dear Evan Hansen	Drama	2016-12-04	$240,000,000.00	Yes
Jersey Boys	Biographical Musical	2005-11-06	$360,000,000.00	No
Matilda the Musical	Family/Fantasy	2013-04-11	$300,000,000.00	No
The Curious Case of Benjamin Button	Fantasy	2013-02-14	$120,000,000.00	No